DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Applicant is required to elect a single species of PKC (e.g. alpha OR beta) in the claimed invention.

In addition to the above election of PKC, Applicant is required to elect a single agent recited in the present claims, for example:

- A) nucleic acid which reduces or inhibits the expression of PKC,
- B) substance which inhibits the translocation of PKC,
- C) antagonist of PKC, OR
- D) inhibitor of PKC.

In addition to the above election of agent:

- i) if B is election, Applicant is required to elect an ultimate species of "substance" recited in claims 20-21 (e.g. TPA);
- ii) if C is elected, Applicant is required to elect an ultimate species of "antagonist" recited in claims 27 and 44 and on page 19-20 of the specification (e.g. derivative OR analogue); AND
- ii) if D is elected, Applicant is required to elect an ultimate species of "inhibitor" recited in claims 22-26 and 40-43 (e.g. antibody or tocopherol).

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Art Unit: 1609

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

2. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: PCT Rule 13.2 defines “special technical features” as “those technical features that define a contribution which each of the claimed inventions, considered as a whole, make over the prior art.”
3. The uniting technical feature of the present claimed invention is treating cardiovascular disease using an agent that inhibits PKC. Wang et al. teaches using a 21-mer antisense PKC-alpha which inhibits PKC-alpha for treating cardiovascular disease (Circulation Research, 2002, 90:609-616, see entire document). Therefore no special technical feature of the present invention provides contribution over the prior art.
4. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Art Unit: 1609

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
